

Remaining compliant in an ever-changing environment

How a global MedTech organization effectively navigates the complex regulatory landscape with targeted intelligence.

The Regulatory team within a global MedTech organization approached Infodesk to help them optimize their information management processes. The wide range of scientific and legal information sources that they needed to keep up-to-date with meant that it was becoming increasingly difficult to ensure vital information wasn't missed.

Objectives

- 1 Efficiently keep up-to-date with regulatory changes across the whole Medical Device landscape.
- 2 Drive better decision-making across the organization, resulting in a greater return on investment of their services.
- 3 Create a dynamic solution that can be adjusted and adapted as priorities and focuses change

Background

Team profile

The Regulatory team at a global MedTech organization, responsible for gathering, evaluating, organizing, managing and, collating a wide variety of scientific and legal documents.

Challenges

Staying up-to-date with industry changes was challenging due to the volume and diversity of information. This meant that the majority of time was spent looking for information, resulting in important insights being missed or not acted upon quickly enough.
